The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) protects investors, maintains fair, orderly and efficient markets and facilitates capital formation, and is a member of the DoD's Financial Readiness Network. The SEC's Office of Investor Education and Advocacy offers free and unbiased resources and regularly provides briefings for units, commands and family readiness offices. Briefings cover various investing topics, including how to build and protect wealth over the course of a military career, the risks of investing in crypto assets, and considerations when using investing apps. The SEC has free financial readiness resources, including its webpage for the military: Investor.gov/military. Contact the SEC to organize a briefing or request handouts at Outreach@SEC.gov.
