

Lead Where You Live: Building Community Through Volunteerism

Tuesday, April 7
Noon - 2 PM
Henderson Hall, Bldg. 12

REGISTER HERE

The focus of this course is building skills to better connect with those around us to create a positive social climate. This knowledge will help participants in their personal, family, and professional lives; empowering them to build their own support network and feel confident in their communication skills. The course also stresses the importance and benefits of becoming involved in the community and encourages participants to discover the opportunities available every time they move.
